

The role of the DECS Youth Engagement Network - Inner South

The Transition Broker, Youth Engagement reports to the Futures Connect Inner South Youth Engagement Network and is line managed by the District Director – Inner South.

The Transition Broker takes responsibility for the Youth Engagement Network through the management of resources and the evaluation of program results against stated objectives by:

- working collaboratively with the Youth Engagement Network
- providing authoritative advice to the Youth Engagement Network on specific issues.
- Ensuring the development, assessment and reporting of outcomes as required by the District Director in conjunction with the YEN.
- Developing, maintaining and monitoring processes to ensure quality assurance at all stages of program development and implementation.
- Developing and implementing feedback processes that identify the level of stakeholder satisfaction.
- Identifying appropriate actions in response to feedback.

The role of The Inner South Youth Engagement Network is to:

- inform the development and implementation of Career & Transition Services across the DECS Inner South region
- Provide a forum for sharing information, ideas and resources across the DECS Inner South District.
- Provide a forum for identifying common challenges and strategies for overcoming them
- Support the Transition Broker to facilitate sharing of good practice across the cluster. E.g. provide a forum for reporting by schools on Career & Transition programs within their schools.
- Inform and make recommendations to the Transition Broker about Action Plan priorities and initiatives.
- Identify career & transition needs for targeted groups within the DECS Inner South District & facilitate development initiatives / strategies to support these young people
- Enhance relationships with key agencies & undertake joint planning to make effective use of services.
